

SEMINAR: Part 6 - Aspects of the New Regime

Steven Gee QC, Jeremy Lightfoot & Sandra Healy

The Seminar:

Coverage of developing issues in the following areas:

- Methods and places of service
- Service of the claim form on solicitors
- Alternative methods of services within and outside the jurisdiction
- Time limits
- Reasonable steps

The Speakers:

Steven Gee QC practises in the full range of commercial work including arbitrations, agency agreements, distribution agreements, commercial contracts, joint ventures, partnership cases, sale of goods, insurance, reinsurance cases, misrepresentation and civil fraud, shipping, shipbuilding, company law and banking. He is recommended in the directories published by Legal 500 and Chambers & Partners as a specialist in Commercial Arbitration, Commercial Litigation, Civil Fraud and Shipping.

Jeremy Lightfoot has experience across a wide range of commercial, shipping and maritime matters. He is currently developing a broad practice in all spheres of Chambers' work. He undertakes advisory and drafting work, as well as appearing regularly in court for trials, CMCs and interim applications. Jeremy's clients range from major financial institutions and insurers to small businesses and individuals.

Sandra Healy practices in commercial dispute resolution, shipping and international trade, insurance and reinsurance, construction and energy and professional negligence. She has assisted in advising and drafting at all stages of commercial dispute resolution including: litigation involving CMCs, interim applications, trials and appeals; arbitrations conducted under the LCIA, ICC and LMAA rules; and mediations. Sandra is regularly instructed to appear in the County Court and the High Court in relation to a variety of commercial matters. Sandra has also appeared in the Companies Court and Bankruptcy Court in relation to insolvency proceedings.

For further information please contact Sarah Longden - sarah.longden@stonechambers.com or call 020 7440 6900.